Introduction

This booklet provides a list of manufactured products, in alphabetic order, for use as an index to manufactured products coded to the full 7-digit level in the 1972 Census of Manufactures. Each product in this alphabetic list has been assigned a 5-digit code which represents the product class in which it is primarily classified; the first four digits of the code represent the industry in which the product is classified as primary. The primary industry 4-digit codes are based, with two exceptions, on the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual, 1967 edition, published by the Bureau of the Budget. The 1972 revision of the SIC Manual, issued by the Office of Management and Budget, has not been reflected in the codes contained in this alphabetic index.

While this alphabetic index should prove useful to outside organizations and individuals working with the product classifications of the SIC, its primary purpose is for use within the Bureau of the Census. Thus, the 5-digit index serves as a bridge to the 7-digit product coding structure contained in two manuals, also to be used for the 1972 census, covering products of the manufacturing industries:

1972 Numerical List of Manufactured Products
(MC72-1)

"Not Specified by Kind" Product Code
(MC72-5)

All products reported in the census require a 7-digit product code plus a verification check digit. Where a product reported by a respondent requires entry of a product code, the first five digits of the code should be identified in this alphabetic index; the sixth and seventh digits of the code, plus the eighth (verification check digit), should be selected from the applicable numerical list and the full product code entered on the line for the product being coded, in the code column of the report form.
